

Ceremony Music

Prelude

The Prelude is the music prior to the ceremony processions and is generally 20-30 minutes of light romantic and classical music selections as wedding guests are arriving and being seated. The choice of pieces during the prelude is often left to the discretion of the musician.

Seating of Mothers & Grandmothers

The processional of the seating of the mothers and grandmothers is the official beginning of the wedding ceremony. The music selections usually include traditional wedding music, romantic, or classical music selections.

Wedding Party Processional

The processional of the wedding party includes the bridesmaids, groomsmen, ring bearer, flowergirl, and other members of the wedding party walking down the aisle. The popular music choices include contemporary or traditional wedding music selections and often include music with personal significance to the bride and groom.

Bridal Processional

The bride's processional is the central focus of the wedding ceremony and generally includes very stately elegant music at a casual walking tempo. The bridal processional is the most personal and important music in the ceremony and often includes music with personal significance to the bride (or bride and groom).

Interlude (Optional)

The interlude is the area during the ceremony that involves the unity candle, sand pouring, communion or eucharist, or another meaningful moment. These are moments of quiet reflection and the music chosen should complement the general mood.

Recessional

Departure or recessional of the bride and groom, wedding party, and family from the ceremony site is generally includes celebratory music. The wedding guests generally depart very soon after the wedding party to a cocktail hour or reception area. This is the final music for the ceremony.

Postlude Music

The postlude to your wedding sets a pleasant ambiance as the guests are leaving. It will usually last between 5 to 15 minutes. The postlude music choice is usually refined and elegant with an upbeat nature similar to a Venezuelan Waltz.
